NuGO ECN WEBINAR

Career perspectives after your PhD

Wednesday 8 October, 15:00-16:00 (CET)

Dr. Sander Kersten

Director of the Division of Nutritional Sciences
Cornell University, US

What comes after your PhD? In this webinar, Dr. Sander Kersten will discuss the potential career paths once you complete your PhD. Both academic and non-academic options will be explored, highlighting how these trajectories differ and what choices you may face along the way. There will also be room for questions and discussion, so we encourage you to think ahead and bring any questions you would like to ask Dr. Kersten.

About the speaker

Sander Kersten, Ph.D. is the director of the Division of Nutritional Sciences and the Schleifer Family Professor at Cornell University. After earning his Ph.D. at Cornell and postdoctoral work in Lausanne, Switzerland, Dr. Kersten spent nearly 25 years at Wageningen University, the Netherlands, where he became Full Professor and Chair of the Nutrition, Metabolism and Genomics group, before rejoining Cornell in 2024. Research in his group aims to elucidate the molecular mechanism that underlies the regulation of lipid metabolism in the liver and adipose tissue during fasting and feeding.

NuGO works with the GoToWebinar platform. Make sure to join a few minutes earlier to get all programme updates. Questions can be asked in the question pane or preferably live by actively opening your microphone and camera.
